

DISCOVERY DAY DULY CELEBRATED

Local Knights of Columbus Hold
Forth Wednesday Afternoon
And Night.

BIG PARADE AND BANQUET

Long List of Toasts Responded to by Prominent Speakers of Three States.

The Knights of Columbus held forth in grand style Wednesday afternoon, in Knights of Pythias hall, where 120 candidates were initiated into the fourth degree, the occasion also being in honor of the landing of Columbus on the island of San Salvador, one of the West India islands. The initiation was prefaced with special services in the Catholic cathedral, and after a street parade in the early evening, the day wound up with a big banquet at the Commercial club. At the morning religious service, the altar was handsomely decorated, the lights of the candelabra forming the initials of the order. The music was impressive, and Bishop Scanlan officiated. The ritualistic work occupied the afternoon and evening, up to 7 o'clock. Thomas O'Brien of this city was in charge of the degree work, assisted by M. C. Harrington of Denver, Edward McGurkin of Salt Lake, James H. DeVine of Ogden, Roy T. Byrne of Omaha, Jesse B. Hawley of Boise, John J. Harvey of Salt Lake, and Judge John I. Mullins of Denver. Every year, from each lodge one member of the third degree, who is qualified, is picked as a candidate for the fourth degree. The ceremony is of national importance. Of the 134 candidates, most are from the west, and when the exercises are held in the east, there are few of the knights from the west who make the trip. Candidates who took the fourth degree yesterday included members of the order from Salt Lake, Ogden, Bunka, Park City, Boise, Doreville, Butte, Helena, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Reno, Elgin, Goldfield, Omaha, Denver and Kansas City.

BANQUET IN EVENING.

The street parade was two blocks long, headed by Held's band, marching and counter-marching on Main street, all knights being in full evening dress and with regalia. The parade was made up of men, at the Commercial club banquet. In the absence of Bishop Scanlan, the blessing was asked by President J. J. Guinan of All Saints college, Thomas J. O'Brien was toastmaster. M. C. Harrington of Denver responded to the toast of "Catholic Patriots of America," referring to the many Catholics who discovered, explored and fought for this country. He held patriotism was preeminently a Catholic virtue, and the blood of Catholic patriots had been shed on the great battlefields of American history. The Catholic missionaries of the west were patriotically mentioned. Rev. O. M. Cushman of Ogden responded to the toast of "Our Double Allegiance." He said, "Knights of Columbus are soldiers of Christ and soldiers of liberty. They should be true to the allegiance they owe their country. They should be soldiers who confess and advance the teachings of the thorn-crowned Christ and by teaching and example retain Christian principles in the institutions of American government. The Catholic church is the bulwark of liberty-loving people. Its voice is always raised in defense of the liberty of the people and against tyranny and at the same time it is a tower of strength against the encroachments of the red hand of anarchy."

BOISE MAN'S TOAST.

Jesse B. Hawley of Boise responded to "The Conscientious Duty of an American Catholic." He said it was the duty of every patriotic Catholic to take an active interest in the affairs of his country. By that he did not advise Catholics to seek office nor to favor a Catholic candidate for office in preference to a candidate of another faith. Catholic citizens should be inspired by purely patriotic motives and should support those officials whom they believe to represent those principles which the individual Catholic regards as for the best interests of the country, irrespective of creed. Mr. Hawley claimed that notable governmental reforms, including abolition of slavery and the lessening of the divorce evil, had their origin in the minds of patriotic Catholics. District Judge John I. Mullins of Denver responded to "The Test of Knighthood," making reference to the duty of the knight of Columbus owed to the Catholic church. He deplored the modern tendency toward decreasing religious fervor and complicated Catholic Americans on the fact that their duty was undiminished and that the advancement of the Catholic church in America was due to the devotion of the laity.

City Attorney James H. DeVine of Ogden responded to "Patriotism." He held the Catholic church had always taught patriotism as well as piety, devotion to country as well as devotion to the church. There is nothing in the teachings of the Catholic church, and the Constitution of the United States. Patriotism is not necessarily a command to die for country. Today it means the greater part of the life for one's country, to aid in the conflicts of peace. A patriotic Catholic best serves his country and his church by living up to the teachings of his church and by following the teachings of the Constitution of the United States.

The closing speech was made by Edward McGurkin on "Government." He paid a tribute to American motherhood, the foundation and basis of all civilization. The true patriot is the true woman. Following the singing of "America," the assembly adjourned.

THE FOURTH DEGREE CEREMONIES IN SALT LAKE

The fourth degree ceremonies in Salt Lake were the first of this annual ceremony has come to Utah. Once Los Angeles was honored, and again Denver. With these exceptions, the fourth degree has never been held west of Omaha before. The fourth degree ceremony is of national importance, and candidates are admitted to this exclusive circle only once a year. There are about 2,000 members of the fourth degree in the United States, out of a membership of about 300,000 in the order.

TROUBLE WITH NEW RULES.

Aunt the sudden recall of Walter Camp from Seattle to New Haven, D. C. Calahan says it means there is trouble in the Yale football team, the trouble being principally over the modification of the forward pass, as made by the rules revision committee. There seems to be an interpretation of the new rule concerning that play, which Mr. Camp alone can clear away. So he is hurrying toward New Haven. Mr. Camp had planned to visit Salt Lake on his return east from the Pacific coast, and was to have been entertained at the Y. M. C. A. and University club. But this is now all cut out.

SEEKS HER LOST SON.

Mrs. Nelson Fritz of Stockton, Mo., has written to Postmaster Arthur L. Thomas asking him to institute a search for her son, George Edward Fisher, who came to Salt Lake last June to work on a railroad. She has not heard from him since he arrived here. In the last letter he wrote, he said he had obtained employment in a cannery and was working for a man by the name of Hiller.

PROGRESSIVE SAN ANTONIO.

Texas Sets Forth How the Municipality Has Solved Paying Question.

San Antonio, Texas, has solved the street paving question, for according to the St. Anthony, a prominent lumberman of that city, who was at the Cullen Wednesday, the city has purchased its own asphalt plant and made a saving of 50 per cent on its miles of new paving. Within the next year or so San Antonio has built two automobile roads, one loop, which goes to the Missions and return being 25 miles long, and the other, going to the mountains, being 18 miles long. There are 2,800 automobiles in San Antonio alone.

The city is supplied with artesian well water and has recently made great strides in a building way. Two big hotels are in course of erection, one the St. Anthony, costing $1,000,000, and the other, the Jotuntar, costing $1,235,000. An innovation in the building line is the erection of a 10-story $500,000 business block by the Methodist church.

AUSTRALIANS INVESTIGATING

Distinguished Party Arrives to Look Into Irrigation and Agricultural Projects.

STATE-AIDED IMMIGRATION

Hon. Hugh McKenzie, Minister for Lands, and Dr. Elwood Mead Visit Garland and Kayville.

A group of prominent Australians is in Salt Lake City today with the object of studying local irrigation, and industrial enterprises. In the party, which is staying at the Kenyon, are Hon. Hugh McKenzie, M. L. A., minister for lands, Victoria; Dr. Elwood Mead, M. Inst. C. E. M., Am. Soc. C. E., chairman of the state water commission, Victoria; R. V. Billis, secretary; H. P. Gullitt, correspondent of The Argus, Melbourne, and Col. Ray, managing editor of The Herald, a Sydney paper.

These gentlemen, constituting what is known as the land settlement delegation from Victoria, Australia, are on their way back to Australia from England, where they have been creating considerable interest in Australian lands among the tenant class. So successful have they been in the interest of the government that every berth on every ship bound for Australia from England is already taken up until March 1, 1911.

On Wednesday, Mr. Mead, who was one time state engineer of Wyoming and chief of engineering and drainage of the department of agriculture at Washington, inspected with Col. Ray the Bear river reservoir near Garland, Mr. Mead was the engineer for this piece of work. Today Mr. McKenzie and Col. Ray visited the Kayville cannery to get some idea of a modern tomato canning factory. In Australia, the tomato is a staple crop, and the cannery is a very important industry.

VICTORIAN PROJECT.

One of the biggest irrigating and settlement schemes yet devised is that which the state of Victoria has now under way. Concerning the mammoth project, Mr. McKenzie said:

"The state of Victoria will irrigate 1,000,000 acres at a cost of $10,000,000. The land has been surveyed for 30 years, each man. This was found to be too much for one farmer; and therefore as fast as the farmers desire to sell, the state is buying the land and then placing it in an irrigation system and sold back to the farmers, who have 31 years in which to pay for it. Unlike the Carey act project, the state has exclusive charge of the matter, the sole object being one of settlement and advancement. The state gave outright $1,000,000 to all the project, and the remainder is to be paid in 31 years. One man last year who had 10 acres of tomatoes made $4,000, or enough to almost pay for his share of the land he has in 31 years to pay for."

WHAT STATE OFFERS.

"The state offers the settler, whether he possesses ample or small means, every possible facility to succeed. In the purchase of land, the government will loan to settlers amounts of money up to 50 per cent of the value of improved land. The government will also make advances of up to $2,500. The period of advance must be repaid within a period of 15 years, and it bears interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. Furthermore, the state will if desired, prepare and carry out the settler's holding, so that immediate returns may be obtained."

"It is the wish of the government that all settlers should be farmers or farmers with them. It is realized that many industrious and capable farm laborers in Europe have not been able to make their journey to Australia; this is true, notwithstanding the fact that rates of passage money have been made exceedingly low. In order, therefore, to give the necessary qualifications for land settlement to avail himself of the exceptional opportunities Victoria offers, the state will loan to settlers, for the purchase of land, and the victrola, Europe, or America up to 50 per cent of the passage money, the loan to be repaid in five years."

"Experts in all branches of agriculture and horticulture, sheep, poultry, viticulture, poultry raising, fruit-growing, viticulture, ensilage making, and so on—are employed by the state. They assist and instruct the settlers, and the necessary production. Assistance is provided in grading and preparing land for irrigation, and in the best methods of irrigating, and in the selection of stock and implements, so that the selector may lay out whatever capital he wishes to spend to the very best advantage."

The price of water for irrigation in Victoria is believed to be the lowest known. An ample supply is guaranteed. The government does not desire to profit by the sales of water. Only sufficient to meet interest and ordinary expenses is charged. The price from July to November is 2s. (50 cents) an acre foot, and from November till June 1st, ($1.25) an acre foot.

A special organ recital was given at 2 o'clock this afternoon through the courtesy of the First Presidency of the Church to Mr. McKenzie and party; and the visitors left for Los Angeles on the Los Angeles limited later this afternoon.
